Samarkand, Uzbekistan

MINISTRY OF HEALTH REPUBLIC OF UZBEKISTAN

in collaboration with

THE GERMAN-UZBEK MEDICAL SOCIETY "KOCH-AVICENNA" NPO AND GOVERNMENT OF FEDERAL REPUBLIC OF GERMANY

May 2023, Samarkand

CONCEPT NOTE

1. INTRODUCTION

Uzbekistan and Germany share a long history of cultural and economic ties. In recent years, both countries have been working to strengthen their cooperation in the healthcare sector and both countries have achieved significant progress in improving their healthcare systems. However, there is still room for further collaboration and exchange of knowledge and experience between the two countries. Therefore, organizing a health forum could be an excellent opportunity to strengthen the relationship between Uzbekistan and Germany as well as enhance cooperation in the health sector.

The Uzbekistan-Germany Health Forum aims to promote collaboration and exchange of knowledge between the healthcare sectors of the two countries. The forum will bring together healthcare professionals, policymakers, industry experts, and academics from both nations to discuss important healthcare issues, share best practices, and explore opportunities for joint ventures.

Objectives:

- a) To create a platform for healthcare professionals and policymakers from Uzbekistan and Germany to exchange ideas and best practices.
- b) To explore opportunities for collaboration and joint ventures in healthcare research, development, and innovation.
- c) To discuss important healthcare issues, including healthcare delivery, patient care, health technology, and healthcare policy.
- d) To promote partnerships between healthcare organizations and companies in Uzbekistan and Germany.

The forum will cover a wide range of topics, including:

1. Healthcare delivery models in Uzbekistan and Germany;
2. Health technology and innovation;
3. Patient care and outcomes;
4. Healthcare policy and regulation;
5. Healthcare financing and insurance;
6. Pharmaceutical and biotechnology industry collaboration;
7. Medical education and training;
8. Telemedicine and digital health.

Expected outcomes:

- a) Increased collaboration and partnerships between healthcare organizations and companies in Uzbekistan and Germany.

b) Enhanced understanding of healthcare systems and best practices in both countries.

c) Identification of areas for joint research and development in healthcare.

d) Improved patient care and outcomes through the adoption of best practices and technology.

e) Enhanced collaboration and exchange of knowledge between healthcare professionals and policymakers from Uzbekistan and Germany.

Format:

The forum will include plenary sessions, panel discussions, and breakout sessions. The plenary sessions will feature keynote speakers from the healthcare industry in Uzbekistan and Germany. The panel discussions will focus on key healthcare issues and will include experts from both countries. The breakout sessions will provide an opportunity for participants to discuss specific topics in-depth and share their experiences and allow for more focused discussions and networking opportunities. On the second and third days, exhibitions of medical devices, pharmaceutical products and advanced solutions in the field of medicine will be held.

Keynote Speakers:

The keynote speakers for the health forum will be experts in the field of healthcare, with significant experience in Uzbekistan-Germany cooperation. They will share their insights on the current state of healthcare in both countries, and discuss the opportunities and challenges for further collaboration.

Conclusion:

The Uzbekistan-Germany Health Forum will provide a unique opportunity to strengthen the relationship between the Republic of Uzbekistan and Federal Republic of Germany as well as enhance cooperation in the health sector. The forum will bring together healthcare professionals, researchers, policymakers, and industry representatives from both countries and provide a platform for exchange of knowledge and experience, identification of areas of mutual interest, and exploration of opportunities for joint research, training, and capacity building. The forum is expected to result in enhanced bilateral cooperation, promotion of business-to-business interactions, and signing of multiple Agreements and MoUs between Uzbekistan and Germany in the health sector.
